Wartime Housing Ltd. Discussed by Council and Company Officials; Miners Urgently Needed

McGillivray Alone Can Accommodate 100 Miners; Council Only Body That Can Bring Wartime Housing Ltd. Into Community to Build Homes.

At the regular meeting of the town council on Tuesday evening S. C. Short, P. A. Dickieson and W. S. Purvis were present to discuss with the council the urgent necessity of securing increased accommodation in Coleman in order to provide additional labor for the local mines; and to determine the manner in which this accommodation could be secured.

In introducing the company delegation Mayor Aboussafy stated the discussions which were about to be entered into were the result of lengthy discussions held between himself as Mayor and Mr. J. J. McIntyre, general manager of the local coal companies.

Mr. Dickieson, in his remarks, stated that the two companies were unable to secure labor and that they were constantly struggling to get accommodation. They had advertised persistently for accommodation but with little or no success. During the past six months they had found that some of the single men sent here, with the exception of the local boys brought up here and those since returned from the armed forces with their homes in Coleman and the Varsity boys, were not the type the companies desired. The companies had gone after the Selective Service office and had been told that only when proper housing facilities were available would it be possible to send in family men. There had been no new houses constructed here for the past five or six years yet it was known that other communities had been getting houses. It was his opinion that Wartime Housing Ltd., was the only solution and that required the authority of the town council before it could be brought into the community.

Mr. S. C. Short stated that his company, McGillivray Creek Coal & Coke Co., Ltd., required 100 more men than they had on the payroll at the present time. New development work at the mine could absorb additional men.

There were many housing schemes under the National Housing Act. Money was available at low interest rate. Industry had many problems of its own without going into the business of constructing homes.

Mayor Aboussafy stated that in order to bring Wartime Housing Ltd., into Coleman the council had to make available land and guarantee a steady tax rate over a period of ten to thirteen years at a tax bill of not more than $24 annually and there was a possibility they would not come to Coleman.

The statement was made by one of the delegation that it was a problem for the council as only the council had the authority to bring in Wartime Housing Ltd. Once that permission is granted Wartime Housing moves in and builds the homes, and after ten or thirteen years the home is turned over to the council at a cost of $1,000. While the homes were definitely not for the veterans, they did have priority.

Mr. Short expressed his personal opinion that the citizens in mining camps today, and especially Coleman, were turning their thoughts towards the possession of modern homes. The wage scale at the present time made it possible to own these modern and beautiful homes and that the mine industry would be able to compete with other industries on the labor market.

Council dealt principally with the point that should Wartime Housing be brought to Coleman there was the possibility that the rate-payers would have to absorb some cost in street maintenance as these homes cost over $4,000 and present-day tax rates would normally bring in approximately $135 in yearly taxation. However, it might be possible to solve the problem and in the meantime a reply was being awaited to a letter sent to Toronto on the subject and that just as soon as a reply was received the delegation would be invited to meet the council and discuss the subject in greater detail.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

About thirty friends gathered at the home of Mrs. M. Cornett on Wednesday, July 10, in honor of her sister, Miss Margaret Kniezack, of Bellevue, bride-elect.

Five tables of court whist were played, honors going to Ella Prok, Mrs. G. Storm and the consolation prize to Mrs. Robutka. The bean-guessing contest was won by Mrs. S. Soreff.

A dainty luncheon was prepared by the hostesses and served by Millie Bubniak and Ella Prok and the guest of honor was presented with a pair of lovely blankets and a few other useful gifts, for which she ably thanked her friends.

The party broke up shortly after midnight.

The bride-to-be will leave shortly for Chicago, USA, where she is to be married.

John Moscow Visited Coleman Last Week

Speaks Highly Of Local Group 'Who Will Take Part In Edmonton Festival.'

Mr. John Moscow, of Toronto, paid an official visit to the Pass last Wednesday to acquaint himself with the Crows' Nest Ukrainian choir, composed of voices from Bellevue to Fernie, which will travel to Edmonton to take part in the Western Canada Ukrainian festival next month.

Mr. Moscow will conduct the choir taking part in the festival and which he estimates will have a strength of 400 voices.

He has been travelling over western Canada visiting points in which entries have been received and spoke highly of the local group as regards interest and ability.

He made comment on the fine work of the Coleman leaders whom he described as having done a good job. "So often" he remarked, "one visits a fairly large town or city and finds that little or nothing has been done to develop the latent talent stored up in the youthful members of the organization. In other towns, much smaller, on is amazed at the progress being accomplished by leaders who are on their toes and who take keen enjoyment in their work."

Instructor Pete Meoniuk estimates it will require $1200 to transport, feed and board the Pass group during the life of the festival. Concerts and picnics are being sponsored to raise that amount.

SEND BEST WISHES FROM VANCOUVER

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Garrett returned last week from a vacation spent at Vancouver. While in the west coast city they met a number of former Colemanites. Jim Park Purchases Janostak's Grocery Took Over Active Management Today; Janostaks to Reside in British Columbia.

Jim Park launched out into the business world on his own this morning when he took over active management of the business known for many years as Janostak's Grocery.

Mr. Park entered into negotiation for the purchase of the business along with the building last month and just as soon as Mr. and Mrs. Janostak leave for their new home in British Columbia, he, Mr. Park and two sons will move into the upstairs apartment.

It was in 1929 when Jim first came to Coleman from Aberdeen, Scotland, to work with his uncle, J. M. Allan, of Coleman Cash Grocery. He remained with his uncle for fourteen years till 1943, when measures decreed that he take work in an essential industry which, in his case, was coal mining. He worked at International tipple for three months before being transferred to McGillivray Creek general office. He worked with McGillivray till June 30.

Mr. Park is quite well known locally as he takes part in many community activities and was for two years Worshipful Master of Summit Lodge. During the war years and up to the present time he has been a faithful secretary to the Coleman branch of the Canadian Red Cross. He has also been secretary of the Coleman Rangers football club when that sport flourished in the Pass.

He has served his apprenticeship in the grocery business and is fully conversant with all phases of the business.

Merchants Seek New Closing Hour

Seek To Close Saturday Evenings At 6 p.m. Proposes To Have Council Pass New Closing By-Law.

Crow's Nest Pass Retail Merchants' Association have been holding a series of meetings in recent weeks in an endeavor to secure new closing hour regulations.

It had been originally planned by the sponsors to keep closed all day Wednesday and close at 6 p.m. Saturdays. When the vote was taken by the association as a whole the Wednesday proposal was thrown out but the Saturday closing hour found considerable favor.

On Tuesday of this week two merchants in Coleman and two in Blainmore were canvassing the respective towns seeking the necessary two thirds vote in favor of the Saturday closing hour. The Coleman canvassers were successful in their mission but at the present time it is not known how successful the Blainmore canvassers were.

On Tuesday evening council received a letter from the Coleman Retail Merchants asking that a new closing by-law be put into effect. Notice of motion to grant this request will be brought in at the August regular meeting but will only be passed providing that the Blainmore town council is asked to act in similar manner.

Bellevue and Hillcrest merchants will fall in line with Coleman and Blainmore.

Spiritualist Mediums

Son of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle Says He Is In Touch With His Father
LONDON—Adrian M. Conan Doyle, son of the late Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, said he was "regularly in touch" with the spirit of his father. Sir Arthur was author of the Sherlock Holmes mystery stories. Pretending the use of his father's name by spiritualist mediums, Mr. Doyle told an interviewer:

"I am regularly in touch with my father in his own inner circle, and I can say that he deprecates this public and entirely unwarranted misuse of his identity and the pernicious habit of ascribing to him, through the vehicle of trance 'addresses', viewpoints and statements that have no more solid foundations in fact than the subconscious mind of the medium."

Simultaneously Mr. Doyle criticized what he described as "anti-Christian elements in the spiritualist movement."

His aim, Mr. Doyle explained, is a union between the churches and spiritualism in which mediums would be "ordained and paid by the churches and seances held in the churches after the services."

Not Very Musical

Call of Whippoorwill Is Very Piercing and Persistent

The whippoorwill has a big mouth. In theory, says the New York Times, this mouth is peculiarly adapted to catching insects, for the bird does its insect hunting at night and on the wing. It has to catch lots of insects in a hurry, for it doesn't spend much time hunting. Most of its time is spent making noise with that big mouth.

The whippoorwill does not sing. If you are charitable about such matters, you may call its noise a call; but it is about as musical as a peep with the squeak of an ungroomed wagon wheel. Not as piercing, perhaps, but more persistent.

Compared to the call of a whippoorwill, the screeching hoot of the most raucous owl is sweet and soothing. Besides, owls pause for breath. The whippoorwill doesn't.

UNEARNED DISTINCTION

Out of his travels in India, Mark Twain related his eye-witness account of the pomposity of the Judge of the Bombay High Court.

The Judge, whose bearing denoted that never for an instant could he forget his judicial distinction, was walking up and down the platform of a small railway station just before taking his seat in the train. A few minutes after the train had drawn into the station, a perspiring Englishman rushed on to the platform and said to the Judge, "Is this the Bombay train?"

The Judge, looking over the head of the questioner, remarked coldly: "I am not the State Master."

Whereupon the Englishman retorted with considerable heat: "Then, confound you, sir, why do you swagger about as if you were?"

HEALTH FOR EVERYBODY

There are various conceptions of both the objectives and the means of health education. There is the limited paratively few people by a few educators—too frequently a single professional in a limited area teaching the simple essentials of a few health principles, a few facts about nutrition or the necessity for immunizing against disease and the like. This was the first and the simplest conception.

Departments of Health struggled for years to persuade reluctant legislators to make meagre appropriations for a work which did not seem to be tangible enough to be understood.

It would seem the more logical understanding of the objective and means of health education involves an understanding of the problem far beyond the vision of pioneers in the field. Actually if health education came in to its own civilization itself might be changed almost overnight.

The great cause of poverty is sickness. By dealing with sickness we attack poverty. Science has provided means whereby preventable sickness may be banished from the land—and standards of positive health immeasurably improved. Theoretically it is possible to not only eliminate the communicable diseases but at the same time build a people taller, stronger longer lived, more efficient and happier.

But to achieve this end we must emerge from the horse and buggy days of health education from the idea that a few professionally trained persons can take the job on all by themselves. Health education in its larger sense is the business of every citizen. Every citizen should do his part to educate himself, his neighbors and his children if we are to build the healthy happy world which should be the right of sentient human beings.

The job of health education in its large sense is extremely complicated. It involves the co-operation of many persons of whom the professional health educators are only one group.

The practicing physician, for example, should play an important role. George Vincent—one time President of the Rockefeller Foundation—once said that the practicing physician is the ultimate health officer. And the physician has surely a greater responsibility in the field of educating in the means of preventing illness and building health than he has ever realized in the past. He has been too occupied in the past with the need for his healing art to undertake what should be an obvious duty in the prevention of disease. Perhaps his traditional education has scarcely prepared him for the leadership which should be his responsibility.

But there is another principle which is significant. In the ideal world the average citizen should be prepared to undertake responsibilities outside of his ordinary job of making a living for himself and his family. This applies not only to the doctor with his specialized knowledge but to every leader in the community. And who is there who should not at least attempt to lead? When the average citizen learns that the achievement of health for all would make a new and civilized world, when he plays his part in this great movement, then only will the dreams of those who believe in the startling significance of education for health come true. The fact that the achievement of health objectives is only possible when economic and social conditions are changed and that political forces constantly tend to prevent change should make it obvious that every voting citizen has his duty to perform if we are to achieve health for everybody.

Will Be Filmed

Activities Of Scotland Yard To Be Seen In Pictures

In these days the film is invading all manner of hitherto impregnable fortresses of isolationism. The latest citadel to succumb is a truly sensational coup for the movie-camera. A film is being made of Scotland Yard, reports a London correspondent of the Ottawa Journal. It will display its up-to-date activities in grappling with post-war crime, and will even admit the cinema public to its holy of holies—the senior officers' conference room with the conference in session. No doubt there is fine screen material in the Yard, including its fingerprint department, its chemical analysis laboratory, and so forth, but the piece de resistance for film fans will be an actual "shot" of the famous "Flying Squad" on the trail.

The ancients believed the tides were caused by a great hole near the edge of the sea, from which water rushed at intervals to fill the ocean and flood its beaches.

The Royal Family

Go About With Complete Lack Of Police Protection

The London correspondent of the magazine Times writes about the Royal Family, whom he finds simple, unpretentious, dignified, respected, and he notes with special interest "the complete lack of police protection necessary for British royalty". He offers this explanation:

"Apparently no one wishes to harm them, which is either a great insult or a great compliment. After seeing the spontaneous gatherings which form wherever they go, after hearing non-descript little crowds give them three impromptu cheers as they get in their car, I favor the latter conclusion."

We are quite sure "Time" has come to the right conclusion, and the safety of British royalty is not only a compliment to the King and the members of his family but to the people among whom they move in complete security.

If a time comes when the British Monarchy is abolished it will not be through revolution or assassination but by the solemn and considered action of the people expressed through the ballot. And, in that remote contingency, we have no doubt that the first to pledge loyalty to the first president of the United Kingdom would be the sovereign just displaced.—Ottawa Journal.

Souvenir Book

A Gift To Canadian Troops Who Served In Holland

Saskatchewan troops who fought through Holland when that country was liberated by the First Canadian Army, may now receive copies of a fine souvenir book, "Holland and the Canadians".

Published in 'Amsterdam' by the Canada-Netherlands Committee and designed as a gift from the people of Holland to "their Canadian liberators" the book is an outstanding contribution to the literary and photographic records of the past war.

In a foreword to the book, the Dutch Committee pays high tribute to the Canadian Army which "won great glory by its courage and self-denial and filled the hearts of our people with everlasting gratitude." Immediately after the liberation of the Netherlands, the introduction continues, a desire was felt to offer the Canadian Army a commemorative gift which could be kept by each individual recipient and which would give expression to the admiration and gratitude of the Dutch people. It was felt that such a gift should take the form of a book which, under the title of "Holland and the Canadians" would give a picture of the country they had liberated.

The well illustrated book shows the country before the war, scene of proverbial prosperity with its fertile polders reclaimed during a struggle of centuries with the sea; the quiet cities with their seventeenth century splendour side by side with modern activities, and the picturesque landscape with its broad waterways.

Then there will be found pictures of the period of war and occupation including the bombardment of Rotterdam, the looting of the country, the raids, the gradual pauperization of the people and their starvation and suffering during the cold war winters, and also scenes of the underground resistance in the face of death.

With the heroic struggle for Nijmegen and Arnhem, began the liberation of the country which, with the conquest of Zealand and the eastern provinces, ultimately led to the capitulation of the enemy. Finally a number of the pictures show the glorious entry and the enthusiastic reception of the Canadians throughout the country.

Altogether there are 150 splendid photographs in this 10x14 inch book, augmented by a text to make up 72 full pages. Mr. J. Niker, secretary of the Canada-Netherlands Committee and Major Norman Phillips, of Canadian Army Public Relations, collaborated on writing the text and

THERE'S a mighty interesting story behind the recent incarceration of Judge Davidson Fraser in a lunatic asylum.

Daily newspaper readers may freshen their memories and recall that just prior to the learned judge going "raving mad", his only son was found shot "by persons unknown". Or at least that's the verdict the coroner brought in. And most of our citizens realize that the shock of the death of his son resulted in the judge's insanity.

Now I can give you the real low-down behind the whole affair. And, believe me, the tale is stranger than fiction.

Judge Davidson Fraser was the supreme dispenser of justice in his thriving western community. On this particular evening, the judge had just come into his home and found a note awaiting him. Unfolding the paper he read it carefully, then out of him gurgled a sort of a devilish laugh. Knowing the judge as I did, that's the only way I can describe his laugh. And truly devilish it was.

"Dear Judge Fraser," it said. "Kindly accept our sincerest thanks for your verdict in today's court. You disobeyed our warning and sank fit to sentence to death a man you knew to be innocent. Therefore, dear Judge, you now sentence you. We work in an unusual manner, and we do unusual things. You will find cause to remember us for the balance of your life. We hold an appointment with you during the next twenty-four hours!"

The letter was unsigned, and the judge laughed when he had finished it. That's one funny habit a judge may have. He may laugh while we groan. However, it's a letter we were talking about. This wasn't the first threatening letter Judge Fraser had received during his varied career. Always anonymous, but most times he could almost guess their source.

Sometimes they had a mild sequel, but mostly they meant no harm. This one? Well, this one was different. The man he had sentenced to hang was innocent, though that's a story for another day.

Unconsciously he tore the letter into shreds and watched them disappear in the fireplace. The judge's hand patted the little automatic lying snugly in the pocket of his gown, and his eyes glittered. Yes, he could still shoot. More than once his life had been saved by his ability to beat an assassin in the draw. Thanks to his old army officer, Twitte, who had taught him the fine points of marksmanship.

If you could have been in that study that night you would have seen Judge Fraser just sitting there, comfortable, and staring into nothingness, while the fireplace gleamed over his ruddy face, in which there was no dread.

But an hour later, we still find Judge Fraser in that same position. He had not moved. But a lot of things were coursing through that nimble mind. Fear and remorse. He forced his thoughts to see him again and his chief interest in life—his son, Jim. The boy, who was showing him the sort of man he might have been. The boy who had thrown over the study of law, against his father's wishes and turned to aviation instead.

Aviation had its risks, but then, so did law or any other work. He ought to know. Tomorrow Jim would be back home from the war. It would be good to see him again and he wished Jim's mother was still alive to share his pride in his son.

I'm sorry folks, we have to advance another hour or so. Time is a funny thing. It never stops and some of us have a long time to catch up with it.

Judge Fraser had dozed off into the realms of a mildly subconscious state. Grotesque visions of lurking, shadowy gunmen flitted through his mind. His imagination was running away with him, and he suddenly shook himself awake and sat up. He felt cold, and a damp sweat stood out on his forehead. What a dream! Or was it only dream and the haunting eyes of a condemned man?

He swung to his feet and switched off the lights. He looked at the radium dial of his watch. It was just midnight. His hand closed about the automatic. His fingers toying with the trigger, he sank back into the chair. Why not call the police, and have a guard posted and go off to bed? He felt sleepy. Yes, that was what he was going to do. He was sorry he hadn't done it earlier.

Judge Fraser stood up and yawned. Suddenly his heavy form stiffened. He felt a draft. A barely perceptible draft coming from an outer door, opening in ominous silence. Then the handle of the study door turned, a shadow fell across the threshold. By the faint glow from the fireplace, the judge could just make out the form—it seemed like the spirit of doom.

His automatic spat, fire. A streak of flame—a moment of silence—a choking cry—and the shadow lurched and fell outstretched on the floor. The judge smiled. It was a neat job. He switched on the lights, rushed to the phone and called the police. Then he turned to the figure.

The dead man was lying face downward. Avoiding a pool of blood, the judge shoved the body over his with his foot.

"God in Heaven," shrieked the judge and a maniacal cry startled the drowsy cop on the corner.

The cold glared eyes that stared up at the judge were those of his son, Jim!

Too Fearsome

Atomic Energy Said Only Be Used For Man's Peaceful Use

This thing that raved Hiroshima, that ravaged Nagasaki and burst so spectacularly over Bikini Lagoon is too fearsome to be met by anything less than the highest civic courage and social wisdom that man can summon to his aid. The world cannot live in terror of the force that came on Hiroshima unannounced, that kept the thousands of observers at Bikini in a state of tension that communicated its strength for evil to the millions who listened to the test explosion. It must be bent to man's peaceful use, chained by universal resolve—or man will merely exist henceforth the edge of annihilation.—New York Herald Tribune.

A HIGH BRIDGE

Joining Norway And Sweden, Said To Be The Highest In Europe

The bridge joining Norway and Sweden 200 feet above the Svine Sund, south of Fredrikshald, which was opened by King Haakon of Norway and the Crown Prince of Sweden, is the highest in Europe.

The construction of the bridge, which is 1,260 feet long with one span of 465 feet, was begun in 1939 and was almost completed by Swedish engineers in 1942, when the German occupation forces were already established on the Norwegian side. The bridge was the scene of dramatic and often fatal attempts to escape from Norway during the war.

In 1942 lightning exploded a mine on the Swedish side, destroying the second arch, and the restoration was postponed until the end of the war. After eight months' work the bridge, a majestic engineering achievement, which now re-establishes the main western Scandinavian motor route, was completed, costing more than 3,000,000 Swedish kronor.—London Times.

SAVES MAN FROM LAKE—When he failed to appear on the surface of Gull Lake, Ont., after diving from a rowboat, John A. Meyer, Toronto, was rescued by 19-year-old Patricia Snell, also of Toronto, seen here. She plunged into the lake and located Meyer below the surface. "After the dive," said Meyer, "I kept going down. I don't remember Miss Snell bringing me up. She saved my life."

Says People Of Britain Are Not Prone To Use Of Narcotics

LONDON.—Despite seven years of war and austerity, Britons generally have abstained from opium smoking and use of narcotics. Maj. W. H. Coles, Britain's representative on the United Nations Narcotics Commission, said in disclosing points of his own commission brief.

Britain, forced after the First Great War to fight a dope ring of country-wide proportions, is one of the countries least troubled by dope addicts.

"The Englishman—no matter how great his worries may be—is not prone to narcotics even if he can get them," said Maj. Coles.

Authors' Association

Western Writers Well Represented At The Convention

The recent convention of the Canadian Authors' Association in Toronto marking its 25th year of existence was the most successful in every way, as there were upwards of 200 attending.

The retiring President, Roderick Stuart Kennedy of Montreal, editor of Family Herald & Weekly Star, is well known to many of our readers and has passed his authority into capable hands.

Among those interesting people who can put on paper what they feel, we had heard and who have imagination enough to write fiction, poetry, etc., we noticed that the West was well represented as reported by William Arthur Deacon (the new Association's President) and Literary Editor of the Globe and Mail, Toronto.

Earle Birney, poet, of Vancouver; Kathleen Strang, of Winnipeg, biographer; W. G. Hardy of Edmonton, novelist (yes, "the hockey man"); Ross Annet, of Consort, Alberta, who sends his stories to the "Saturday Evening Post", were among some of the Western names noted—there are many other writers in the West doing good work and finding ready markets for their stories.

World Food Shortage

Britain Feels That She Should Help Starving Nations

Until the last few weeks people in Britain have tended to take for granted, as something remote, the world shortage of food. A letter from the Prime Minister to the head of every local authority in the country brings home the truth to the individual citizen. It is our duty to save food and to grow food to the utmost extent, to help the world survive, in Mr. Attlee's words, "one of the greatest food crises in history."

There is a natural tendency, when we have made so many sacrifices, to feel that if anyone goes hungry it should be not our own people, but some stranger—and for preference those who were our enemies. But they are in fact already hungry and many of them starving. In the absence of further effort by countries which have food, millions of men, women and children will starve to death as surely as men, women and children starved to death in concentration camps.—Daily Telegraph and Morning Post (London).

HAD GOOD REASON

Cows were declared sacred in India 3,000 years ago, because the cattle population was being badly depleted by slaughtering, and it was feared that no animals would be left to supply milk. That is the explanation given by Sir Datar Singh, leader of the Indian Trade Delegation to the U.S.

The tide-producing power of the moon upon the earth's oceans is more than twice that of the sun.

Still Being Paid

Indians Receiving Money Owed By Government For Their Land

Indians still are being paid for the lands they surrendered by treaty with the white man, A. G. Leslie, trusts division official of the Indian affairs branch, told the parliamentary committee on Indian affairs. The funds, paid annually by the government, were not given as largess or humanitarian purposes, but as instalments owed the Indians for their land.

He said that more than 90 per cent. of the trust fund which totals $17,992,489 belonged to individual Indian bands across Canada. The richest band was the Blackfoot tribe, whose 1,000 members had $2,751,303 in their capital and revenue funds. But the band with the greatest per capita wealth was the Dokes of the Sturgeon agency. The 240 Dokes had more than $958,000 in their funds.

A TRUE APPRAISAL

Two men were discussing motoring as they sat in the club. "I was once buying a used car from a garage owner," said one. "Of course, he praised it, and since I was a novice, I knew nothing about it, but I found a way of finding out all about its defects."

"That sounds incredible," said the other. "Well," continued the first man, "this is how I did it. I took the car out on trial and drove it to another dealer, and asked him to buy it."—Boys Life.

Co-Operation Of Council Asked For August 3

Require Certain Streets Blocked Off And A Number of Deputy Policemen; Declare Civic Holiday August 3.

Regular meeting of council was held on Tuesday evening. Present Mayor Aboussafy, Councillors Jenkins, Ramsay, Dutil and Wilson.

Mrs. Steve Panek was present to protest against the dumping of ashes on the hill at the rear of her property. She stated she and her husband had worked hard to make it a beauty spot and she did not wish their work to be in vain because of ashes. Council stated it did everything in its power to remedy the situation.

Pool room proprietors Tommy Lloyd and Albert Sapeta were present to protest against the business tax which has been debited against their property for the first time. Following discussion council stated it would enquire just how other towns dealt with their pool rooms as regards business tax.

John McDonald was present as representative of Coleman Crow View Rodeo committee. He asked council's co-operation on Saturday, August 3. Mr. McDonald anticipates a record crowd and stated that in addition to traffic being parked on the parking zones in the field the school grounds and the ground at the rear of the skating arena were also being utilized. He asked that certain blocks of the main street be blocked off at certain hours of the day for in addition to the parade at 11:30 a.m. it was proposed to have a band play in the street in the evening.

He asked that council have its policemen on the job and deputize others to aid. He also asked that deputy policemen be made available to accompany ticket sellers who had a very important job in trying to sell every person who walked onto the field. Since there was no fence around the field the job was more difficult than ever. He wanted traffic policemen on main streets directing traffic into the various parking zones and through traffic onto second streets.

Council informed him that it would give his suggestions detailed examination and it would do its utmost to co-operate as effectively as possible.

Secretary was authorized to open a special account for the Municipal hospital assessment.

The monthly report of the Medical Health Officer reveals that there had been several cases of dysentery, one VD case and that the general sanitary condition of the town had improved over the last month. The Cafes and restaurants had carried out his suggestions towards improving conditions.

The chimney on the Root residence on main street had still not been repaired but council was made aware that steps had already been taken to make improvements. The back alley at the west end of main street was in a condition much worse than when the fire occurred several weeks ago.

Constable Wm. Antle was granted permission to start his annual vacation on August 19.

A $100 grant was voted to the Coleman War Memorial Fund and a $25 grant to the Canadian Institute for the Blind.

A civic holiday was declared for Saturday, August 3, in order that all citizens might have the opportunity of witnessing the parade and stampede.

Cost Of A Health Plan

THE QUESTION OF A DOMINION-WIDE PLAN of health insurance and free hospitalization for everyone is frequently discussed. The desirability of putting adequate medical care, and hospitalization when necessary, within the reach of all citizens regardless of their financial status, cannot be questioned, and in most communities today there is provision for the care of those who are unable to pay the usual costs of illness. There are also group health insurance and hospitalization projects, but as yet no such step has been undertaken on a national scale. In other parts of the Empire and notably in New Zealand, extensive health and hospitalization insurance and other benefits of this kind have been in effect for some time. Recently sweeping measures of this nature have been introduced in Britain in a National Health Bill which attracted much attention on this continent.

Basic Needs Are Outlined

At the recent meeting of the Canadian Medical Association held at Banff, the question of health insurance and free hospitalization was discussed. Speakers there pointed out that there could be no such thing as "free hospitalization" and that government financing of any health plan would result in an ultimate burden to the taxpayer. A report on the subject by a committee of the Canadian Medical Association, headed by Dr. Harris McPhedran of Toronto, stated that studies of health insurance trends over a period of several years had resulted in the endorsement of certain "basic requirements" for such a scheme. These were: (1) improved standards of living; (2) an adequate public health preventative program; (3) diagnostic services; (4) hospital services; (5) medical services for remote, thinly populated areas; (6) complete services for blind persons, old age groups and pensioners; (7) education of the public to the full implication of a health insurance plan.

Need For Many New Hospitals

In connection with hospitalization it was pointed out that present services would have to be expanded to include not only general hospitals but special institutions such as tuberculosis sanatoria, mental, children's and convalescent hospitals. Dr. Harvey Agnew, of Toronto, an expert on hospital construction, said that the country's requirements for new hospital buildings would amount to $250,000,000. One of the main points which were stressed throughout the discussions was that the public should be made fully aware of the financial responsibility of the government, and therefore of the taxpayer, in any national health insurance and free hospitalization project. Enormous sums were raised by taxation to finance the war, and many people may feel, and rightly so, that the national health has as great a claim on the public finances as war. However, the Canadian Medical Association can be commended for placing before the people a survey of the wide implications of the nationalization of health services.

Liquor And Crime

Prelude To Recent Crimes Has Been A Drinking Party

One inescapable fact has emerged from the recent plethora of violent crime in Winnipeg and the neighboring communities, and that is the part that liquor has played in leading up to robberies, unaccountable stabbings and murder.

The prelude to recent crimes of violence often has been a drinking party, not a quiet drink for sociability's sake but a first-class binge in which some of the participants either became violent or lost track of events. A room studied with empty bottles became the setting for a crime.

Drink or sex too often got into the picture some place. This condition must have impressed itself on the public generally, and the consequent sobering effect on the community should lead to a re-examination of individual habits. — Winnipeg Tribune.

Helicopter Squadron

United States Navy Will Use It For Air-Sea Rescues

The U.S. Navy Department has commissioned its first helicopter squadron, consisting of 17 such craft, to be based at the Naval Air Station, Floyd Bennett Field, New York City. The squadron will be largely experimental, designed to develop and expand the progress already made by the United States coast guard in use of helicopters for air-sea rescues and other purposes.

The helicopters will be placed on fleet vessels that do not carry any aircraft, where they can perform ship-to-ship and ship-to-shore liaison for the delivery of mail, personnel and material. They will thus eliminate the use of destroyers for many minor deliveries to larger vessels, involving hazardous and time-consuming manoeuvring to come along-side.

They will be installed also on some battleships to supplement the conventional observation and scouting aircraft carried on them and other large ships.

Search For Opportunity

Canada Should Provide This In All Fields Of Endeavor

The search for opportunity which has taken Canadians across the border has not ended with the war. It will not end until Canada can provide within her boundaries opportunities in all fields equal to those offered by the United States. A comparison of populations, of facilities, indicates that this will not be in the near future and may, in fact, never come at all.

Crucial as the loss may be, it is something which Canada has so far survived. She will continue to survive it. — Winnipeg Free Press.

NEW KIND OF CONCRETE

British scientists are trying to develop a concrete which will "age beautifully". The Royal Institute of Architects consider it their greatest need, and speakers at a recent conference said scientists may soon be able to meet the demand. One speaker said that in London's grimy atmosphere, few buildings "survived" from the point of good appearance, beyond 10 years after construction.

The Romans considered salt a sacred article of food, and never placed any other dish on the table before it.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Have any of the unnumbered coupons with a beaver stamped on them, issued to members of the armed forces, been declared invalid?

A.—All these unnumbered coupons with a beaver stamped on them remain valid. Therefore they may be used to purchase rationed foods whether or not the person to whom they were issued has been discharged from the service.

Q.—I have been trying to purchase a second-hand car but find that most car dealers demand that you have a car to trade in on the purchase. Can a dealer refuse to sell an automobile unless the buyer has a car to be traded in?

A.—Any dealer must sell a used car to any person who offers cash and may not demand an exchange or trade-in of any kind.

Q.—I am planning on spending my vacation at a summer hotel. I will be there for three weeks and would like to know if it will be necessary for me to turn in my ration book to the hotel manager.

A.—For a visit of two weeks, or more at any hotel, ration books should be surrendered to the hotel manager.

Q.—Has the price of milk been increased in restaurants?

A.—Restaurant and cafe proprietors may not increase the price charged patrons for milk served by the glass or with meals. Some restaurant owners apparently had the impression that they could raise the price when the milk subsidy was cancelled and the price of milk was therefore increased to the consumers. The milk subsidy regulation did not, however, affect the restaurant trade.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' Notes" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices, mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Farmer One Man Who Has To Gamble With Elements

The weather may be the prime subject for discussion among urban people; rains, or the lack of them, may be an annoyance or an inconvenience, but are seldom a matter of profit or loss to the farmer. The weather is all important. Everything he does is a gamble with the elements. His whole season's work in fact the future of his farm for a year or two, may be wiped out by a single flash storm. He has to be a real gambler.

ANSWER TO LAST WEEK'S PUZZLE

ENTIRELY NEW IDEA

Norwegian Farmer Found He Could Plow With Fishing Boat

Norwegians in the western fjord districts have long combined fishing and agriculture with admirable success. It was not until recently, however, that this combination reached the ultimate with a report that a certain fjord farmer had succeeded in plowing his field with a fishing boat. Now, plowing with electricity is a fairly common practice in these districts where the fields are steep and the cost of electricity low, but replacing a horse with a boat had never before been tried. This particular farmer living on the Kils Fjord in Sumnare had a field close to the fjord's edge. It was a comparatively simple matter to rig up a system of cables and blocks, hook his motor boat up to the shore, and then hook on and plow away. The weather was calm, and the boat pulled out from shore plowing a furrow in record time. With a long cable and a pulley at the far end of the field, the plowman had only to signal to his "seagoing horse" and another furrow was plowed in the opposite direction. Soon the whole field was turned. The success of the venture has made farmer Ole Mjøltyvik a subject of spirited conversation in his district.

Rich Kingdom

Sarawak In Borneo Has Become British Crown Colony

Sarawak, rich and romantic Borneo kingdom of the white rajahs, recently became a British crown colony. The King issued a statement saying: "I extend a warm welcome to the people of Sarawak and pledging Britain to 'promote your welfare and to bring Sarawak to a higher stage of social and economic development than has hitherto been possible'."

Christopher William Dawson, formerly of the Malayan Civil Service, was appointed chief secretary of Sarawak pending appointment of a governor.

Sarawak, North Borneo state with 500,000 inhabitants and 300,000 acres of rubber plantations, was ceded to Britain by its last white rajah, 71-year-old Sir Charles Vyner Brooks, under an agreement whereby he and his three daughters and some local officials receive the proceeds of a $4,000,000 trust fund established from Sarawak funds.

The rich kingdom has been in the Brooke family since 1840, when the Sultan of Brunei gave it to Sir James Brooke for quelling an attack by head-hunters.

Blind Musician Invents Machine By Which He Copies Notes

Delegates to the convention of the Canadian Federation of Music Teachers' associations heard how a man's desire to write music overcame his blindness. The musician—Auguste Lessens of Sorel, Que.—invented a machine which enables him to write a line of music more quickly than the average person.

Mr. Lessens conceived the idea one day when his wife, who usually copied his music for him, was absent. A shoemaker cut several grooves in a piece of leather and he traced them upon a musical staff. The latest version of the device consists of a frame for holding the paper and a variety of stencils enabling him to copy any conceivable set of notes.

Music in your Dreams!

Do you ever hear strains of music in your dreams? The oracles say these instruments have these meanings:

BAG-PIPES—Look out for trouble!

TRUMPET—You'll gain your wishes!

CHURCHILL SAYS A STRONG FRANCE IS NECESSARY TO PREVENT A THIRD WAR

METZ, France.—Winston Churchill called on Europe to "rise from her ruins and spare the world a third and possibly fatal holocaust" and declared that a strong France was necessary to achieve this goal.

The former British prime minister, speaking at a Bastille Day celebration marking the 157th anniversary of the French revolution, said there could be "no revival of Europe or its culture without a strong France."

Political observers were quick to note the great appeal Mr. Churchill made to France, without directly referring to a western bloc or even a written alliance between France and Great Britain.

"Europe must take first place in our thoughts," he insisted. "May there be a decent life achieved and set up for Europeans." He then carefully pointed up his next remark: "Europe is my first watchword. My second watchword is 'France'."

He referred to the necessity for British-French understanding and said:

"You must never allow the slightest recrimination between Great Britain and France."

Speaking at a dinner given in his honor by the municipality of Metz, Mr. Churchill said:

"Twice have the United States spent blood in coming to Europe. Twice has Great Britain and the Commonwealth done the same, and twice has our heroic ally Russia. There must be no third time."

"Europe must rise from her ruins," thundered the leader of Great Britain's opposition Conservative party, "and spare the world a third and possibly fatal holocaust."

Mr. Churchill made his entire speech in French, an act which won the large audience.

He then went on to explain the purpose of his visit to Metz.

"When President Roosevelt and I decided in 1942, with the support of our governments and military leaders, on the liberation of North Africa, I gave Gen. (Harris) Girard a rendezvous in Metz. Nous-voilà! (Well, here we are!)"

The crowd cheered.

Mr. Churchill left for the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg shortly after completing his speech.

SECRETARY OF THE MOSLEM LEAGUE IS OPPOSED TO JOINING CONGRESS PARTY

NEW DELHI.—The secretary of the Moslem league declared that "it would be suicidal for the Moslem league" to enter the Indian constituent assembly under present circumstances, and indicated the league might withdraw its acceptance of the British plan for an Indian constitution.

The league earlier had accepted the British cabinet mission's proposal for a constitution, and for an interim government of India, but announced it had called a meeting of its council for July 28 and 29 "to decide what course of action shall be adopted."

The league secretary, Nawabzada Liaquat Ali Khan, said the council session was called in view of serious "developments," and declared that the cabinet mission's "anxiety to succeed has made them fail."

The all-India Congress party, chief rival of the Moslem league, recently in Bombay ratified acceptance of the constituent assembly plan, but took the view that phrases to which the Congress objected could be changed in the constituent assembly.

The Congress party's standpoint, Ali Khan, said, would make the constituent assembly a sovereign body and "if it is established as a sovereign body, we would have no place in that because we would be one against four in the assembly."

INSECT PESTS

Menace To Forests In The North Country

THE P.A.S. Man, Charles Dunn, a trapper in the York Factory area about 550 miles northeast of Winnipeg, reported a plague of strange insects was moving west and south from the western shores of Hudson Bay, leaving stripped spruce forests in their wake.

Mr. Dunn said he believed the area covered by the insects extends 115 miles inland to the west from Hudson Bay and southwest to within 15 or 20 miles of The Pas—a distance of about 500 miles.

"I noticed 75 to 80 per cent. of the spruce has suffered in the areas around the junction of the Sturgeon and Fox rivers, and that is the region where I first saw the insects. But the damage is spreading further west, and has already spread back to the coast."

The insects were almost 1/2-inch long, with "tiny" silver wings and feelers behind and in front of the wings.

They strip branches from spruce trees "as if with saws," leave white spruce "as bare as broomsticks," and attack black spruce from above the six or eight-foot level which marks old and new branch growth.

LOST PILOT TESTED NEW PARACHUTING METHOD—A new device to enable a pilot to parachute to safety was tested by Flt.-Lieut. W. H. McKenzie of St. Vital, Man., pilot of the missing Gloster Meteor jet plane, before he took off. It is a "pop-out" invention consisting of a rocket gadget under the pilot's seat. When the pilot slides back the glass hood and presses a button he is catapulted into the air free of the hazardous high tail assembly which has so far made it impossible for fliers to parachute safely from this type of plane. The missing aircraft did not contain the device.

SOIL EROSION

Said To Be A Serious Problem Facing The Dominions

LONDON.—The danger of soil erosion facing some dominions and colonies is stressed in a Sunday Observer editorial commenting on discussions of the Royal Society's recent Empire scientific conference.

"Scientists are agreed that soil erosion is the most serious of the dominions and colonies," the newspaper said. "They gave warning that unless this menace is promptly dealt with by the governments concerned it will result in death by starvation of many millions."

If further applications for licenses to import such houses were made, they would be considered sympathetically by his department which controls dollar purchases.

THE FOUR POWER FOREIGN MINISTERS PLAN WAYS FOR GERMAN PEACE SETTLEMENT

CANADIAN DOLLAR

London Financial Times Comments On The Parity Question

LONDON.—The Financial Times, in an editorial on the revaluation of the Canadian dollar to parity with the United States dollar, said that "under existing circumstances it is difficult to see how Canada can do other than profit by the decision."

In its leading editorial the newspaper said that since Mr. Isley "apparently did not volunteer a comprehensive explanation of the reasons which prompted Canada to revalue the Canadian dollar to level which restores the pre-war parity with American exchange, the world is left to draw its own conclusions about this momentous event. There is no reason to doubt that full consideration was given to wider issues involved before the decision was taken."

LENGTHY WHEAT NEED

WINNIPEG.—Western Canada wheat will be needed in deficient countries of Europe and Asia for at least two years in large quantities, R. V. Biddulph, European commissioner of the Canadian wheat board said. It will take that time before European bread grain reserves are built up to normal pre-war standards, he said.

NO MORE NEEDED

WINNIPEG.—Fred J. White, regional superintendent of the unemployment insurance commission, announced that the excursion of female farm workers from western Saskatchewan and Alberta to assist with the British Columbia fruit crop now has been completed and no more applicants can be accepted.

PARIS.—State Secretary Byrnes called for the establishment of a central administration in Germany to give the beaten country economic unity and declared the "American government has never sought to impose a peace of vengeance" upon the Reich.

Mr. Byrnes also told the four-power foreign ministers council that if an agreement was not reached now on a centralization plan, the United States wanted an economic merger of any two or more of the present four Allied zones of occupation.

In two statements Mr. Byrnes gave a detailed account of United States policy on Germany. The American secretary expressed hope the British threat to go ahead immediately with autonomy for the British zone could be avoided.

Giving a detailed answer to the Soviet policy as outlined by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of the U.S.S.R., Mr. Byrnes said the government of the United States believed that:

1. While Germany's economic revival along peaceful lines is essential, this revival of the Reich should not be given "priority over the economic revival of countries Germany has devastated."

2. The Allies now should make clear to the German people the essential terms of the peace settlement which the Germans will be expected to accept and observe. This step should be taken "to give democratic forces in Germany a chance to assert themselves."

3. Allied controls and small security forces must be maintained in Germany for a long period "but mass occupations and occupation government of Germany, if extended over a prolonged period, will defeat our purposes."

The Germans must be given a "chance to minimize" by their own efforts the difficulties and hardships they are going to experience. If the Germans "are not given that chance they will ascribe their difficulties and hardships to the Allied occupation and not to the devastating war of aggression which their leaders brought upon them and the world."

5. The four-power foreign ministers should appoint special deputies to set up machinery "to work out definite lines" of a German peace settlement.

Say U.S. Must Supply Food For Starving Europe

WASHINGTON.—D. A. Fitzgerald, Canadian-born secretary-general of the international emergency food council, declared that hungry people abroad may not be able to compete with American livestock for grain if "commodity prices" get completely out of hand.

Dr. Fitzgerald, who was born near Grenfell, Sask., discussed the relation of the price control situation to the famine relief program after an aide to Agriculture Secretary Anderson had said that the government may suspend buying of meat for foreign aid until fall unless it is brought back under price ceilings.

Emphasizing that the world food crisis is not over, Dr. Fitzgerald told a meeting of the council that the United States must bear a "heavy responsibility" in supplying wheat and other grains to shortage areas for many months to come.

"I am sure we will meet our responsibility, but the will must find a way and the way will be harder to find if our commodity prices get completely out of hand," he said.

"I don't know whether hungry people abroad would be able to compete with our hogs, cattle, and chickens for the cereals essential for their very lives. And even if they could, I doubt very much whether we are meeting our obligations to a suffering humanity by a taking advantage of its extremity."

Mr. Anderson's aide, discussing the possible suspension of meat buying, said the government feared that without price control such activity would increase meat prices much above present levels. In planning to resume buying next fall, the government was relying on heavy marketing of livestock to hold down prices.

TROUBLE IN GREECE

ATHENS.—Twenty persons were murdered in Greece for political reasons in the first week of July, British sources said. Fourteen of the murders—mostly by small bands—took place in Macedonia and Thessaly, where clashes between armed bands and government forces are an almost daily occurrence.

CANADA IS A

Moderate Nation

Moderation is a Canadian characteristic.

It is a heritage of our people. As children, we learn moderation.

As adults, we practice it. As Canadians, we are proud of it.

In spite of post-war temptations to splurge and spend, we have kept our heads. We've acted moderately... we have not given in to the natural desire for immediate enjoyment of everything and anything in short supply... and that is why, as individuals and as a nation, we are unhampered by the excesses of inflation.

We can point to a fine record. We can point to Canada's future with certainty. But, we can do this only if we continue to live up to our Canadian principles of moderation—moderation in all things.

Men who Think of Tomorrow... Practice Moderation Today!
